Full-Time Faculty – Pharmaceutical Sciences

Marshall B. Ketchum University, a private not-for-profit health care professions university, is currently seeking several elite full-time faculty members for its new College of Pharmacy. The College is dedicated to excellence in education, service to the community, and research/scholarship. Together with an outstanding leadership team, the faculty will realize the College’s goal of reimagining the future of interprofessional health care, establishing new standards of pharmacy practice based on the application of pharmaceutical and biomedical sciences.

JOB SUMMARY

Reporting directly to the Department Chair of Pharmaceutical Sciences, successful candidates are expected to teach in the Doctor of Pharmacy program, mentor students, support College research initiatives, and participate in the service activities of the department, College, and University.

QUALIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

- Documented accomplishments in teaching, professional practice, and scholarship at a level appropriate for appointment as an Assistant or Associate or Full Professor.
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills.
- Ability to read, analyze and interpret scientific literature and academic publications.
- Demonstrated ethical conduct, professionalism, interpersonal and leadership skills, and management abilities.

EDUCATION AND EXPERIENCE

Candidates must have a Ph.D., M.D., Pharm.D., or equivalent degree, with expertise and focus in one or more of the following areas: medicinal/pharmaceutical chemistry, pharmaceutics, analytical chemistry, enzyme mechanisms, biochemistry, pathophysiology, pharmacology, toxicology, microbiology, and immunology. Preference will be given to candidates with past experience in medical or pharmacy academia, especially in the development of new programs.
ABOUT THE ORGANIZATION

We are Marshall B. Ketchum University, an independent, private, non-profit, accredited educational institution. Located in Fullerton, California (known as the education city) Marshall B. Ketchum University is a comprehensive health care university, built upon a legacy of over 110 years of academic excellence and clinical education.

Created as the Southern California College of Optometry, and expanded to offer a range of interprofessional programs and health care initiatives, including a School of Physician Assistant Studies, the University is now moving forward with plans for a College of Pharmacy. This is an exciting time for health care, for medical innovation and education, and for our community. We believe the future is bright, and look forward to advancing it together.

The founder of the Southern California College of Optometry, Marshall B. Ketchum, was a medical doctor, pharmacist, and passionate advocate for medical education. The mission of Marshall B. Ketchum University is to educate caring, inspired health care professionals who are prepared to deliver collaborative, patient-centric health care in an interprofessional environment.
