Powerful Rays of Giving

FOCUS ON PHILANTHROPY

2011–12 Report to Contributors
Our Mission

To educate today's minds to provide tomorrow's eye, vision and health care.
Dear College Family and Friends,

Collectively, we achieved much in 2011–12. To pause and reflect on the power of philanthropy provides an opportunity to check our bearings, make changes and strengthen what works. Moreover, we can thank the people behind such generous giving.

In March 2012, the Southern California College of Optometry achieved 108 years of continuous operation as a premier teaching institution. Moving forward, this institution will continue educating the finest Doctors of Optometry and also make a change to its academic offerings. The College announced, in August 2011, its plan to start a two-year Master’s level Physician Assistant program. It is anticipated that the first Physician Assistant classes will begin in the Fall of 2014, pending provisional accreditation. This is our first step in the development of an interprofessional healthcare campus.

Throughout the year, I’ve met with alumni, friends and key business partners, to share our future plans and the overwhelming reaction has been one of positive support. Expanding the College’s healthcare degree offerings will increase our reach into the communities we serve and therefore, the patients for whom we care.

In 2011–12, we strengthened our commitment to children’s vision and to expand our community outreach. SCCO is a major provider of vision care to children and we want to do even more. We want every child to receive a comprehensive eye exam before he or she enters kindergarten. We want every child to be ready to learn; and, to achieve this we will be taking our vision care program on-the-road to more schools and community healthcare facilities. Your financial support will help us achieve this important goal.

One area of decline, due to the economy, is reflected in our endowment funds. Over the past several decades, the College proudly built an endowment worth more than $22 million thanks to forward-thinking alumni, friends and our corporate partners. In 2011–12, due to stagnant markets, our endowments declined $613,000. Any loss is challenging for a private institution that awards academic and research scholarships from the interest earned on each endowment fund. We encourage your continued financial support to sustain the giving strength of our endowments.

Now, as you read through the pages that follow and the listings of the people, corporations and foundations that provided us with support in 2011–12, I hope that you will be moved to increase your personal donation and investment in the Southern California College of Optometry. ACHIEVING 2020 is more than a campaign, it’s our commitment to our community.

Thank you,

Kevin L. Alexander, O.D., Ph.D.
President
The College experienced a positive financial year with a change in net assets from operating activities of $669,000 on total revenues of $25.5 million. Members of the College Family are to be congratulated for the significant role each played in achieving these operating results.

At SCCO, tuition represents 48 percent of the total revenue. This is well below the industry standard of 60 percent. The balance of revenues includes contributions from individuals, alumni, corporations and foundations as well as income from endowments, investments, continuing education programs and College vision-care centers. Endowments also help the College because the scholarships they create help our students to have less educational debt.

The SCCO Family remains appreciative of the contributions from alumni and friends as income to the College in 2011–12 from endowments, private gifts, grants and contracts represented $1.16 million or 4.54 percent of total revenue. These gifts are most welcome and assist with the funding of College programs and student scholarships and awards.

(1) Contributed Services represents the FTE donated by our 105 outreach locations. We send our students to these locations, mostly VA sites, and we do not pay a salary to the doctors who oversee our students. Generally accepted accounting principles require us to report the donated hours on our financial statements. This has a zero effect to the bottom line since it is both a revenue and an expense line item. (2) Auxiliary income is acquired from the Campus Store, Production Lab, Housing, NVISION, and Parking revenues. (3) Other Sources represents Event, Royalty, Tuition Deposit Forfeiture, and Miscellaneous Revenue.

Endowment Funds

Endowment Funds at the College have been established by alumni and friends to support scholarships, student loans, research, and other special programs and activities.

An endowment fund, once established, continues in perpetuity with the income from the fund providing support for the area/activity specified by the donor. Fully endowed funds are established at the $25,000 level or above. For specific opportunities, please contact SCCO’s Vice President of Advancement and Marketing Paul A. Stover, M.Ed., 714.449.7461.

Endowment Funds offer unique ways for individuals and groups to recognize achievement and distinction in special areas.

The Southern California College of Optometry recognized four Artists of Philanthropy, for their exceptional support at its Circle of Vision Luncheon in February 2012. Honored as the Distinguished Volunteer Fundraiser was Richard D. Jones, J.D.; Distinguished Philanthropist Kathryn T. McCarty; and two awards for Distinguished Corporate Sponsor were presented to Snyder Langston and Alcon. Pictured is Snyder Langston’s CFO Paul Pfieffer, with SCCO Chair, Board of Trustees, Gene D. Calkins, O.D., J.D., (left) and President Kevin L. Alexander, O.D., Ph.D.

SCCO Optometric Intern Mallori B. Aschenbrenner, Class of 2014, received the highest score in the country on the National Board of Examiners in Optometry Part I Applied Basic Science Examination. Overall, 1,811 candidates took the exam. “Mallori’s achievement is an outstanding testament to her, to our faculty and to our educational program,” said SCCO President Kevin L. Alexander, O.D., Ph.D. “The College is indeed proud of all of our students who, like Mallori, study diligently to become exceptional providers of eye and vision care to our communities as Doctors of Optometry.”

Class of 2012 Valedictorian Michelle Nguyen Kirk, O.D., grew up within miles of the Southern California College of Optometry in neighboring Placentia. She earned a B.A., in Communicative Disorders in 2004 from CSU, Fullerton, and throughout her studies there and at SCCO she maintained a perfect 4.0 GPA. During each of her four years at SCCO, Dr. Kirk received a Dr. Herbert McCracken Dixon Scholarship. Annually, a minimum of 20 Dixon scholarships are given based on academic excellence from an endowment that bears Dr. Dixon’s name.

One gift, a bequest of $535,500 in 1983 from the estate of Dr. Dixon is now valued at $1,326,677 (as of 6/30/12), and has provided $1,507,600 in awards to 708 students. Each of the 708 students has received one or more scholarships from the Dixon endowment. The first scholarships were presented in 1984 and this one gift, from Dr. Dixon, a 1923 graduate of SCCO, has enabled the College to provide financial support to hundreds of students for 28 years and it will continue to do so, in perpetuity.

The SCCO Student Association made a gift of $10,000 to the College in support of the ACHIEVING 2020 Campaign during FY11–12. Student Association President Jackie Renteria, Class of 2014, presented a ceremonial gift check to President Kevin L. Alexander, O.D., Ph.D., at the College’s Board of Trustees meeting on June 11. The student group’s decision was based on the campaign’s focus on strengthening the future of SCCO by bringing an inter-professional dialogue to one of the most renowned optometry colleges in the nation. The Student Association also issued a challenge to the Board of Trustees and the faculty to match the gift with $10,000 respectively.
Through SCCO’s Network of Care in Southern California, thousands of children and adults receive quality eye and vision care every year. The College will build on this tradition of community outreach through increased partnerships and the purchase of its first mobile vision van in the Spring of 2013.

Eye exams and prescription glasses were provided by optometric interns and faculty from the Southern California College of Optometry at the Fullerton Rotary Club’s community healthcare event held in June 2012. Fourteen optometric interns and three faculty members provided the vision care, along with five members of SCCO’s administrative team who helped facilitate the College’s participation at “Rotary Cares.” Overall, 80 eye exams were conducted that resulted in 65 prescriptions and spectacles. Modern Optical provided eyeglass frames and lenses were donated by Bartley Optical and Express Lens. SCCO Optometric Intern Lindsay Westergren, Class of 2014, is pictured assessing a patient’s field of vision.
The Rays of Giving

The Southern California College of Optometry’s Class of 2012 included 98 graduates four of whom are second-generation optometrists. Twelve members of the graduating class earned Summa Cum Laude honors; seven earned Magna Cum Laude honors; and nine students attained Cum Laude recognition. Overall, they completed 66 classes totaling 236 quarter units.
Visionaries Society

The Visionaries Society includes those alumni and friends, of record, who have included the College in their estate plans such as wills, annuities, unitrusts or the College's pooled income fund.

Visionaries help perpetuate the legacy of the College, and through their foresight and generosity, help assure that their “vision” for an even better and stronger institution is realized.

The College gratefully acknowledges the support and commitment of the following associates of the Visionaries Society:
